Clinical History

This patient sustained a lumbar injury on ____, mechanism unknown. He underwent a lumbar fusion in September of 2000 and currently complains of having worsening pain.

Requested Services

Removal of hardware, exploration of fusion, and two-day length of hospital stay.

Decision

It is determined that the proposed removal of hardware, exploration of fusion, and two day length of hospital stay is medically necessary to treat this patient's condition.

Rationale/Basis for Decision

Based on the records available for review, the procedure proposed is reasonable and indicated. There is a population of patients in which exploration of hardware improves symptoms of persistent mechanical low back pain status post instrumented fusion that appears radiographically solid. Therefore, the proposed removal of hardware, exploration of fusion, and two-day length of hospital stay is medically necessary to treat this patient's condition.

This decision by the IRO is deemed to be a TWCC decision and order.
